Dietary modification in Crohn's disease: basic concepts and methods. Crohn's disease is a chronic inflammatory condition of the bowel which is believed to be mediated by an abnormal intestinal immune response. The lesions are heterogeneous, but generally involve the small bowel, and can be complicated by strictures and fistulas. A wide range of therapeutic approaches has been used to modify these intestinal changes. There is some evidence that Crohn's disease may have a genetic basis, but no definite dietary component has been demonstrated. Patients with Crohn's disease are more at risk of bowel cancer, and diet may modify this risk. The use of fiber, antioxidants, calcium and possibly vitamin D and long-chain polyunsaturated fatty acids will reduce the risk of bowel cancer. Beauty Blog 5 Best Beauty Products for Pets If you have a pet such as a dog, a cat, a rabbit, or a ferret, you probably know that they need some kind of beauty care as well. Pets usually have the same needs as human beings, with the difference being that they can get spots on their skin, their skin can become dry, and their lips can even turn black and scaly because of a lack of moisture. Luckily, there are some good beauty products made just for pets. With the following five products, you can give your pet the best beauty care possible. 1. Petar Go Pet Multi-Purpose Brush If you have a pet that has dry skin, then you definitely need something that will work great on their coat as well as their skin.
