AA Route Planner

The AA Route Planner is an innovative tool that allows you to find the most convenient and fastest way to travel. It is not a travel planner, it's a Web map that will display the routes and the distance between two Zip codes and it will provide information regarding the speed (driving and train) and the availability of the transportation. The AA Route Planner is not responsible for the accuracy of the data displayed on the map, it's provided from third parties. GOSIP2010, 03/31/10 Mittelerte Route Description: Google maps with maps and routes for many countries and more than 350 million destinations worldwide. Preparation of oral dosage forms of phosphorous-substituted pyridoxal and pyridoxal derivatives as coenzymes. Coenzymes are used to improve the absorption of nutrients and drugs in gastrointestinal tract. The oral coenzyme doses are required to prevent the enzyme deficiency in the patients. In this study, the coenzyme derivatives of phosphorous were prepared as the oral coenzyme based on the crystal structure of the coenzyme to evaluate their absorption from gastrointestinal tract. The coenzyme derivatives were designed to contain a phosphoryl group, which is essential for absorbing the coenzyme, by modifying the pyridoxal. The coenzyme containing such a phosphoryl group was synthesized and evaluated as the oral coenzyme. The absorption of pyridoxal from the intestinal tract was also evaluated using the rat model. The compound 4-(3-phosphoryloxy)pyridoxal (P1) was synthesized with a good yield by using a benzylidene acetone acetal in the condensation of pyridoxal and 3-phospho
