Becker Sunday, September 21, 2013 I am not advocating for any specific path of development. In fact, I don't believe in "development" per se. Yet I don't believe that we can avoid it. We are aging and we will die. And the older we get, the harder it is for us to keep ourselves young-spirited. Nor do I believe that it is all doom and gloom. I think that the older we are, the more we can do because we have memories and experience, and because the relationships we have are decades long (if not longer). Enjoying Yourself But enjoying yourself is not a simple matter. We often neglect it. Young people are often more conscious of enjoying themselves than old folks are. This is one of the reasons that young people don't have the wisdom of age; they are so much more active in life because they have energy and options. They are not tied to a job, a spouse, a residence or a set of behaviors. If they get tired of doing a certain activity they
