I can't find no one can help me download and install the new version 10.1. I'm getting tired of every time I will upgrade the existing version and for a game that i had from a friend i have to wait weeks from time to time for it to be available in my country The game is really game and it really can be a very good and to have a bad lag for time I can't remember if it lag in older versions. Pre-installed on a new set of Dell Optiplex 7020's (spent 100 bucks on it!) along with Spireon 7605, PLEX with CW-Tuner. Thanks to Rfx for the root package. 0.5 (30.11.20) Win7 and 2.1.0 activation as I don't have the time or the guts to convert from the older version. (finally deleted that computer from the network, left it at your service) Upgraded to 2.1.0 directly from the website (the website has a few problems with it) Chessbase light is the next Chessbase version after Chessbase Light 2009, the technical description of the latter is: Added a chessbase dictionary to allow the display of chess opening databases. Replaced the chessbase standalone installer in the ZIP file with the chessbase zip file, which can be used to install directly. Upgraded to Windows 7 64-bit. Upgraded to PGS v5.1.10. Added support for Team play. Added an option in the preferences to show time displayed in seconds since computer turn start, but not graphically. I have installed the latest version on a fresh Win 7 laptop without a CD or DVD drive. Everything works fine, but if I want to apply updates, the Chessbase logo appears and says "preparing updates", and nothing happens. From your website: "The best interface for creating and editing databases and charts." How do I create and edit databases and charts? Not sure why it says it's preparing updates for a few minutes. Then I get the message that updates are ready. Do I have to restart the computer? I didn't think I had to for the installation. Removing the software and reinstalling didn't help.
