Q: How do I use DVDFab iFoneRestore to recover data from my iPhone/iPad? A: Connect your iPhone, iPad or iPod touch to your computer. Select "iFoneRestore" and open the program. For the first time use of DVDFab iFoneRestore, please connect your iPhone to your computer. Q: Does DVDFab iFoneRestore need Mac OS X 10.6 or Mac OS X 10.7? A: This program works on Mac OS X 10.6 and Mac OS X 10.7 and ios6.1+. Q: My iPhone is not detected by DVDFab iFoneRestore. What do I do? A: Your iPhone is not support by this program. Please update your iPhone. Q: How can I fix this error message: "Failed to communicate with iTunes". DVDFab iFoneRestore needs iTunes? A: It may be caused by the problem of the iTunes. Please make sure your iTunes is working properly. If the problem still occurs, try restarting the iTunes. Q: I bought a copy of this program. How do I get the refund? A: Please contact our customer service. Q: What is a "provisional restore"? A: DVDFab iFoneRestore uses a "Provisional Restore" to recover the content in your iPad/iPhone. This type of recovery process is not "Recovery" and is not meant for restoring to a device. It is the same as a "deletion" of the content from the device by removing it from the local storage of the device. Any data loss is 100% guaranteed. If you need to recover your lost data, please use our "Recovery" function. The "Provisional Restore" function is only used to recover the content back to the local storage of your device. Please use it for recovery. 1. Connect your iOS device to your computer. 2. Click the "iFoneRestore" icon on the left panel. 3. Click "Recover" to proceed. Q: Can I use DVDFab iFoneRestore to recover data from other devices? A: You can use DVDFab iFoneRestore to recover data from Apple devices only. 1. Connect

What's New In DVDFab IFoneRestore?

DVDFab iFoneRestore is a lightweight iPhone, iPad or iPod data recovery program that allows users to regain most of their deleted items (i.e. messages, photos, notes or reminders). The application can restore either from the device iOS, from iTunes or from iCloud. Features a very intuitive interface This tool is very useful to anyone that owns an iPhone, since it allows quick recovery of seemingly lost data. Since it can selectively recover almost any type of data through several methods, users that own Apple devices will find it very handy. The interface is highly intuitive and navigation is performed solely through crisp buttons. Once a supported device has been connected, all recoverable items are clearly listed and recovery is performed by using the on-screen buttons. Can recover data from iTunes backups The real power behind DVDFab iFoneRestore lies in the fact that it can recover data in three different ways: through the device's own iOS (v.5 or later), via iTunes, or by employing iCloud. The latter option requires an Apple ID account. Recovery methods are by no means mutually exclusive, and users are free to check all three, in order to track the desired documents. Once a method has been chosen, the program will display all recoverable items. Entries can range from Contacts and Notes to Photos or Message Attachments. Allows certain items to be discarded from the list One of the nice features of this software is that it allows one to selectively restore data. This means that users have the option of discarding certain items from the working list (a "Recover All" option is also available). In conclusion, DVDFab iFoneRestore is an easy to use, although somewhat expensive, Apple mobile device recovery tool that allows users to access the iCloud in order to regain data.Q: "Noetherian" ring with a maximal ideal M that is not finitely generated. Let R be a ring with maximal ideal M. We say that M is finitely generated (or Noetherian) if there is an integer n such that M^n is the unit ideal. I've been trying to find a counterexample where R is not a finitely generated (in general) ring with a maximal ideal that is not finitely generated. But I've not been able to find one. Note that a ring with no nontrivial idempotent is Noetherian. Can we say that a Noetherian ring with a maximal ideal that is not finitely generated has to be a ring with no nontrivial idempotent? A: In fact, every Noetherian ring with a maximal ideal is finitely generated. This can be seen by using the same proof as for the fact that every
