asafking .At least six people were killed, more than 100 injured and four injured on Monday night when a parcel exploded at an apartment block in a northwestern Canadian town, reports say. RCMP were deployed to the scene in the northwestern town of Kirkland Lake, Ont., following the explosion around 8 p.m., which ripped through the roof of a five-storey building in the heart of the city, reports The Canadian Press. What makes the incident so unusual is that the package exploded early in the evening – about 4:30 p.m. – which is late in Ontario. Most of the victims are men, according to CBC News. The blast occurred at a building housing a local hockey team, Canadian Forces and an auto parts company. Another injured person was pinned between a car and a wall. Sources told The Canadian Press that investigators believe the blast was the result of "a device" and are "not ruling anything out." A major road near the building was blocked and evacuated on Tuesday morning as a precaution. "While our primary concern is first and foremost to the victims and their families, we must investigate this incident to determine what happened, why, and to ensure there is no further risk," said local police Const. Tony Loparco in a statement. Loparco described the investigation as "complex." "We can't say if this was an intentional act or not, or if it was a bomb," he told the CBC.Q: Why is there a need for this MacOS/iOS Dictionary on iOS? I've googled for a dictionary application on iOS but cannot find a decent one out there, therefore, I've decided to build one myself. I started developing an Xcode/Cocoa app in Objective-C and I'm using this iOS Dictionary on my Mac. So far I've implemented the following: Major: Vocabulary definition, definitions and synonyms. Minor: The app can display multiple dictionaries of different languages (English and German in my case) and you can select which dictionary you want to use, for example, English. You can choose the definition you want to add to the already open dictionary. You can also have a dictionary of your own definition. I need some help with the following major: There's one dictionary to be used for all but I wanted multiple diction
