Adobe Photoshop Elements is a pretty powerful app. It's one of the best editors that are available on the market for a number of reasons. It's affordable. It's easy to use and extremely customizable. It also works on both Windows and Mac systems. There are two ways you can edit files on your computer: Using Photoshop or using Adobe Photoshop Elements. The difference is that Photoshop is a professional image editing tool and that it has a more complicated user interface, whereas Photoshop Elements is designed to be an easy-to-use graphics editor and is less powerful than Photoshop. If you are a professional photographer, designer or web designer and you want to take advantage of the finest photo editing features that Photoshop has to offer, the professional version is what you should get. It's only $199 and you can get it here. If you are a blogger, Instagrammer or do web design, however, Photoshop Elements is what you should get. It is $79 and you can get it here. For those who are curious about how Photoshop works, let's dive into it right now. THE BASICS The basics of Photoshop At the heart of Photoshop Elements is the Adobe Image Editing Engine (AIE). This is the core of the software. Photoshop uses a lot of AIE but it also includes quite a few things and features in the non-AIE programs as well. The AIE is capable of several things: Tonal correction – For example, it can remove stains, remove flickers, change color temperatures, or even remove a cat in a photo. It's extremely robust in this respect. – For example, it can remove stains, remove flickers, change color temperatures, or even remove a cat in a photo. It's extremely robust in this respect. From: Aaron Webster [mailto:] If you've had Photoshop for a while, you're likely to have a good collection of filters and effects that help you turn a photo into something unique. I wanted to share a collection of some of my favorites with you. I think that Photoshop is a really fun program, and it helps you to produce a lot of professional-looking images. Here are a few of my favorite effects and filters in Photoshop: I use Photoshop and Quicktime a lot to make slideshows of my travels and pictures from my albums. I wanted to share a collection of effects that I use for that. Most of them are free, but you have to download the Plug-ins section of the Photoshop Gallery in order to download them. The plug-ins are named by the category, so you have to know what category the plug-in belongs to. The first effect that I use is called "Jazzify." It makes every object in your picture be a different color and makes it look like it's smeared. Here's what the Jazzify filter looks like: Next, I use the "Fade Effect." It does a cool transition between two different photographs. Here's what the "Fade Effect" looks like: Finally, I use "Scratch Art." It lets you scratch out an object from another photo and overlay the scratch-art on the object. It's like creating an alternate version of the photo. Here's what the Scratch Art filter looks like: If you like to create your own effects, then you can use the Photoshop Effects Gallery, located in the Plug-ins section of the Photoshop Gallery. Water Or Gas? 18K-Hole Diamond Solitaire Ring An ideal ring for the man who likes more than one woman, the Water Or Gas? 18K-Hole Diamond Solitaire Ring can be personalized with her or his initials, wedding date or with her or his favorite saying. Made from 18kt yellow gold, this stunning ring is heavy and substantial. It also features a solitaire diamond center stone that weighs in at a delightful 1.42 carats. I purchased this ring for a special occasion for myself. It is very different from other rings I have ordered, and I liked that it came in a velvet pouch instead of a box. I ordered a custom solitaire in rose gold to go with it. It is beautiful, and I am happy with the purchase. I was looking for a ring with a solitaire in it to celebrate my new marriage. However, this is not a ring I wanted to spend a lot of money on. This was a present for my brother and I knew that the solitaire would be not only perfect but also a beautiful one at that. He absolutely loved it, and we are looking forward to wearing it forever. Shipping Policy Orders are usually shipped within one business day.
