minnihan did not accept mediacom's transfer offer to the noc position in des moines. instead, minnihan stayed in his current position in ames, but declined to perform any qc checks. mediacom claims that minnihan would not perform qc checks because it was not able to give him the additional time that he needed to find a rideshare or ride home in des moines. in his deposition, minnihan stated that he would have agreed to perform qc checks if mediacom had offered him an adequate time frame to find a rideshare or drive home. minnihan testified that he could have driven into work between 8:00 a.m. and 10:00 a., if mediacom had guaranteed that he could take breaks and arrive to work by 10:00 a. mediacom, however, did not make such a guarantee, and instead offered a general window, from 8:00 a. to 11:00 a., in which minnihan could drive to work. this evidence does not create a genuine issue of fact as to whether mediacom failed to engage in the interactive process. minnihan told mediacom that he did not want to drive, and when mediacom offered him another job, in another city, minnihan did not accept it. in addition to the written job description, mediacom's customer service manuals and bulletins also established that driving was an essential function of the tos position. the manuals and bulletins state that a "field technician's primary responsibility is to resolve customer issues for a variety of equipment and services," and further state that a field technician "is expected to have a minimum of 2 years technical experience," and that "knowledgeable and reliable vehicles are essential to the job." j.a. at 385, 452 (emphasis added). 5ec8ef588b
