GTA V is finally getting a feature that Rockstar has denied for so long. A built-in online play functionality. The only thing they have in common is the production value, and that's about it. Though with the discussions about GTA Online and Grand Theft Auto Online, they have both the same engine and even the same programmers. Grand Theft Auto V will release on the 29th of September 2012

in Europe (in North America, it's being released in the 21st of September), with Microsoft and Sony exclusives. PROS The new engine that is Rockstar's developed based on Doom 3 and Grand Theft Auto IV with the same programming staff and even a team of medical doctors in order to keep their high standards, and not to ruin the gameplay. The script and story are outstanding. The dialogue is excellent. The visual effects and music are superb. CONS Though the three most important features are available in online multiplayer (with voice and text chat), they don't have any particular plans for implementing Grand Theft Auto Online at this moment. They have only an intention to open a new franchise. With the release of the three versions (PS3, Xbox 360 and Microsoft Windows), you can fight against other players, join a team in the same game (join a team with a friend by just grabbing him by his back, and then press the RT button or the action button) or play a map with your friends. Each map has its own characteristic and a story background. You can challenge or defeat an enemy and receive a reward. Things are not so easy to talk about. The game was designed in the same way that GTA IV was created. Each aspect is focused on the online multiplayer and there's no room for the story and the single player. The people involved in development said that a single player aspect and a story are useless because of the high limits of the gameplay. Some kind of comments the very nice ones, considering the fact that GTA IV was released 10 years ago. I'm sure that this new online adventure won't be as good as GTA IV but it's the best Rockstar's team has done until now. TIGGMAN PS3 version The main gameplay is a mixture between the adventures of Niko Bellic and Franklin from Grand Theft Auto IV and The Third Person of Heavy Rain. bff6bb2d33
