

The NEW S60 Series CPAP Auto is Respiroics' premier pressure support system. Equipped with the new Heated Tube CPAP Technology, the S60 adds a prescription humidifier to the responsiveness and precision of the CPAP, providing a consistent airflow and humidity to the patient. With the additions of a soft-breeze trigger and temperature sensor, you have all the tools you need to make every sleep session count. A five year warranty covers the system and all components, making it perfect for the home, college and growing business. For the M-Series CPAP Auto and the M-Series Elite, Philips Respiroics set the standard with their next-generation Respiroics Remstar CPAP System. The M Series features next-generation technology delivering even better pressure support for a more consistent treatment, high quality, long lasting life, and the most intuitive controls and displays ever. The M Elite is the most advanced model and comes with the same features as the M Series CPAP Auto, plus a new feature, greater than 9-hour battery life. The M-Series Elite is the most advanced Philips Respiroics CPAP system ever, providing the most pressure support for you and your partner, a higher quality, longer lasting life and is available in a few versions with options that will work for you. The Sleep Precise is the newest Philips Respiroics CPAP Machine to be released. It delivers the most pressure support for your specific needs and is the perfect choice for patients who fall asleep on the CPAP but wake up with mouth dryness. For those who experience dry throat during sleep, the Sleep Precise will help you avoid waking up dry mouth and add a few extra hours of restful sleep.

EncoreViewer 2.0 Software For Philips Auto Respiroics Machines

The PR System One (available only in 2007) and Respiroics Legacy REMStar (available since 2000) are among the top-selling CPAP systems for pregnant women. While the other pregnancy CPAP machines on this list are all less expensive than the Respiroics Legacy REMStar, they are not as effective or reliable and often don't use the Respiroics proprietary heater technology. The Universal Portable Battery Pack from Respiroics' line of DC accessories, provides the ultimate in power, portability and convenience. The Respiroics Battery Kit for Most Philips Respiroics and Covidien Machines is designed to work with the original 50 Series Respiroics PR System One, M Series and Legacy REMStar machines and the Covidien Sandman line of machines. IMPORTANT NOTE: This kit will NOT work with the PR System One 60 Series Heated Tube system. See notes below. The time a patient stays with us is largely determined by how effectively we manage the variables that influence their therapy. Over the years, we have learned which factors cause problems with the ResMed AutoSystem, and have included those in the software as well. We have the data to prove that this approach is effective. The improvements in our outpatient software have the same effect on the patient as they did on our clinic. We continue to improve the software to help those patients with the same, if not better, results. The Philips Auto-Systems are the most popular CPAP machines in the world, with approximately 1.5 million systems currently in use across the world. In addition, Philips has developed more than 20 other sleep-related systems and tools for its customers. (ResMed - CPAP , Respiroics - BiPAP , ResMed - BPAP) You have the freedom to choose which model that's right for you. Our Sleep Professionals can guide you through the process and have the answers to all of your questions. Visit our Auto-System section to learn more about the choices you have available and how the three models differ. Customize Resmed Autoset | Resmed Auto Clean | Resmed Auto Sleep Mode 5ec8ef588b
