The results presented here were generated in two consecutive samples of human trabecular bone. In the first sample, we investigated the effect of COX-2 inhibition on the bone glutathione (GSH) content. In a prospective cohort, we included 40 women undergoing a menopauseinduced bone loss (MBL) study. The women were treated daily with two different doses of COX-2 inhibitor (n = 20), or with placebo (n = 20) for a duration of 11 months. In the second sample of bone, we tested if COX-2 inhibition affects bone mineral density (BMD). Patients with rheumatoid arthritis (n = 30) were treated daily with placebo (n = 16), or a COX-2 inhibitor (n = 14). After 6 months of treatment, BMD was measured using dual-energy X-ray absorptiometry in the lumbar spine and total hip. COX-2 inhibition lowered the whole-bone, but not the trabecular GSH content of MBL patients by 25-30%. COX-2 inhibition increased the whole-bone, but not the trabecular GSH content of the RA patients. The results of the two independent samples were similar. It is concluded that inhibition of COX-2 in bone cells causes a decrease in the glutathione content of whole-bone samples. It is likely that this is due to a drop in the cellular GSH content, but not to an inhibition in the transport of the GSH out of the bone cells. The results in rheumatoid arthritis are different, possibly due to a difference in the COX-2 expression pattern in healthy and diseased bone cells.NAKANA THE ETERNAL FIRE Table of Contents About the Movie This movie centers on a small Shinto shrine on the rocky coastline near Kyoto, Japan. In its clear morning light, the hot sun bakes its way through the shrine, and the sea breeze bears the coolness of a cool, rolling horizon. As dawn moves on to morning, a fire spirit arises from the flames of the altar. The spirit would do well to wake up as the first rays of the sun prepare to come over the horizon. Reincarnation is the primary theme of this movie, as it is in the souls of the people who inhabit this shrine. The spirit begins his search for its next incarnation as he sees the beautiful light wash over the shrine and sink into the ground. The spirit then takes up residence in the body of a 12-year-old girl. The film is a powerful story of the soul of a fire spirit coming to earth to seek rebirth in the human world. As it seeks out humans, it witnesses the strife that humans must live with, and begins to understand the human condition in its many dimensions. The film is a powerful reinterpretation of the legend of the golden fleece, as well as an examination of the soul's journeying in the human world. 5ec8ef588b
