After v1.0, Gabriel Baylay's has been active in trying to revive Xiphos, but without a much-needed boost in funding, he's put the project on hold until he can revamp the site. He's also working on another project called MGC, which he's hoping to be adopted by Xiphos. As for Xiphos, they'll still continue to develop trunk but will limit their resources to the housekeeping tasks. Gabriel Baylay will also act as the main point of contact for Xiphos and continue to work on documentation, release management, and active development. If you'd like to support Xiphos, a donation address has been set up.
