They are also really hard to play if you're new to the game - they can take a lot of getting used to. So I thought I'd put together a compendium of the various rules info I've come across, before I assemble my team for a game and find that I've made some huge mistake that I've probably made countless times before, only to find myself mired in the metaphorical swamp. My compendium is for all players - whether you've never played or have played for years. (It's a bit of a long list!) I've tried to distil the rules down into bullet point form for easy reference in the event you find yourself floundering or struggling to decide how to proceed. I'll be happy to answer questions and am hoping it's useful for others. We all want to survive and procreate, right? You are one of the lucky ones. Your community was well prepared for this event. You got everything you need to live in harmony with your neighbors and build a new way of life. But you have to be smart, and you have to be prepared for anything. Prepare yourself, train and survive. OSES is a post apocalypse shooter with a strategic layer, positioning of the survivors is crucial to the completion of the objectives. Run, shoot and switch between characters to guarantee the safety of everyone. OSES offers the switching character mechanic, making it a shooter with bits of strategy, in which you need to manage positioning and ammunition of each character. The game has a 7 scenario short campaign and 20 time challenge maps, do your best to complete them and use the credits you get in matches to buy better weapons, drone drops and hats! Complete challenges in 4 game modes: escape, defense, food rush and boss battles. Each one has different playstyles. Escape: Focused in agility and knowledge of the maps, the characters must escape to the firepits as fast as possible, solving simple puzzles on the way. Defense: In this mode the characters must stop the zombies from destroying the energy generators and keep their weapons loaded, so that they are not surprised by the enemy. Food rush: On food rush maps, all characters are starving to death and need to run around the map to collect food packages, trying to take the most of each one while stopping the zombies from infecting them. Boss battle: Defeat the boss as fast as you can, while managing your ammunition and getting better weapons from boxes around the map. Beyond the official maps, the game has the workshop integration, so that the players can create and share their own maps, or download those created by the community. The available tools allow the player to create maps on the 3 game modes, and even mix various game modes to create a new and challenging experience. It is also possible to create maps with focus on narrative. About This Game: We all want to survive and procreate, right? You are one of the lucky ones.
