"Dancing on my knees" (1988); Year: 1988; Country: USA; Duration: 97 minutes; File size: 618 Mb. Music: M. Rozhin, A. Bakharev. Cast: Annie Girardot, S. Stallone, Ian McKellen, Mel Gibson, Bill Nighy, Burt Reynolds and others. Director: Paul Thomas Anderson. Russian melodrama is a genre that, for the most part, is excellent for the brilliant French director Pierre Jean Truffaut, who has been creating amazing films on the screen for several decades, in which he skillfully combines elements of comedy, drama, action and melodramas created last year by director Paul Thomas Anderson touch on, the action in them always takes place to the music whether it is the film "The Deer Hunter" or "Sweet and Ugly". The premiere of the melodrama "Every woman is a whore" will take place on July 28 at the Kinotavr film festival. And first of all, in this case we will talk about the music for the film. The screenplay was written by Paul Andersen and co-written by Stefan Tulip, Louise Hagelberger and Theo de Mello. The film tells about the life of a prostitute named Nancy, who comes to a small town in the state of Nevada to recover from panic attacks after being raped at the age of 17. Filming began in September 2007, so the premiere will take place at the very end of July. The film also features Patrick Scott, Stephen Dorff, Richard Jenkins, Adrianne Palicki and Tom Hooper. According to the author's intention, the heroine must struggle with loneliness and alcoholism, which became the cause of the sexual violence that happened to her. Every Woman is a Whore was to be directed by Dutch director Harald Zimmer. At first, the picture was planned to be released in 2008, but then the deadlines for the completion of work were shifted, and now the picture is being released. Now this film will be shown in Russian subtitles. The director of the Russian version of the film "Every Women Are Whores" was also Harald Zimmar. The film is scheduled for release on December 1, 2008. Source: worldart.ru newspapers
