This small application will be extremely useful for anyone who has to send mass emails or for a group of people they have to contact every once in a while. With KEYMACRO you can write personalized email messages that will be sent to your friends, associates or business partners with a keyboard macro interface. KEYMACRO is a small tool to help you write good emails with a keyboard. It allows you to write personal notes within a template from a keyboard instead of typing in email messages. Unlocker Studio is a utility that allows you to unlock and alter files without knowing their original name. This utility works with Windows 2000, XP, Vista and 7. Unlocker Studio creates different levels of encryption for files. It allows you to create these levels from a Windows Start Menu. Unlocker Studio allows you to increase your safety and protect your valuable files from cyber attacks and data loss. It enables you to keep an eye on the files and folders you need to protect with a password. Let's see what it has in store for you. Key Features First of all, Unlocker Studio allows you to create the levels of encryption for files and folders with a Windows Start Menu. You just need to select the level and the name. You can create five different encryption levels: Level 1 is the default. This means that the file is decrypted, but the original name is retained. Level 2 is similar to level 1. It retains the original name, but allows you to encrypt the file again. Level 3 makes sure that only you have access to the encrypted file. All the people on your computer will see it as a text file. Level 4 gives you full access to the file. It removes the protection. Everyone on your computer will be able to see it. Level 5 is similar to level 4. It also allows you to access the file. You can use the Level 1, 2 or 3 encryption as a standard file system encryption, which is on by default. With this option, you have access to the original files, without the need for an additional encryption. With the Level 4 and Level 5, you can encrypt files and folders, but they will not be visible to everyone. There is a possibility of losing the original file name, because it is not encrypted anymore. You can protect files and folders using the same level of protection, by selecting the same password. All the protected files and folders will be protected with the same level of encryption, which means that anyone trying to 81e310abbf
