Mesut Kural, 33, has been found guilty of murdering Caner Yesil, a PDP member and journalist for the Kurdish-language newspaper Serbest, on July 14, 2016. Kural was working in the gendarmerie at the time. Kural was originally arrested in connection with Yesil's murder, and was initially charged with "intentional murder" and "deliberate and premeditated murder." However, he was later charged only with the former charge and given the reduced sentence. Although the charge was reduced, the court ruled that he is guilty of the murder after having been found guilty of the latter. The court also found the second charge – deliberate and premeditated murder – not proven. Kural has been in custody since he was first arrested, after a bomb exploded at his workplace. The court ruled that the bomb was planted by the far-right group Grey Wolves, the same group that strangled Yesil. The court ordered that Kural be stripped of his position as a policeman, as well as being handed a 60 percent disability pension for the rest of his life. Murder charges Kural has been charged over the killing of Yes

Online Delayed After a planned announcement on July 9, the makers of Xbox Online(thanks, Kotaku) have decided to delay the release of the upcoming MMORPG Frontier Online for reasons of server load. Here is the statement issued by the developers, id Software: We are extremely frustrated with the problems the game is having. As we feared, the servers have become bogged down with client requests. We are continuing to work hard to find solutions to this problem that will ensure our players have a pleasant experience. As such, the release of the game has been delayed. We are working hard now to deliver a highly enjoyable game to our players and all the pressure that brings. We sincerely apologize for keeping our fans in the dark about this. "They don't really know the names, they've never heard of them. But once you start talking about their film with the guys that say, 'Yeah, we all watched the film,' then their impact is felt." to silence the kids. They are the silent majority at Columbine. The parents who are aware of the danger in the textbooks that are used there are becoming more vocal, more alert, and more demanding. KK: In what ways do your parents represent the millennial generation? JV: My parents are the children of the second half of the 20th century. My father grew up in the post-World War II baby boom — the first time after the war that we saw an expansion in the number of people. This time, they came back home, they got a kids and went to college. So my parents are just post-World War II baby boomers in their 30s and early 40s. They're first-time parents, first-generation parents, but also in a period where the expectations
