I have tried: var replacementString = bar + "foo-bar"; var string1 = ""bar foo foo 1""; var regex = new RegExp("("|')(.*)("|')"); I would be grateful for any assistance. A: Basically you need to start the pattern with (\\) to make the " literal and use. instead of * to match literally a single-quoted string: var regex = new RegExp("\\("|\')(.)(\\"|\'\\)"); A nice trick to make it more readable is to substitute \\ that appears as part of the expression between the brackets with $1: new RegExp("$1"|$1')(.)($1"|$1'\\)") Live example (just adds &ret; at end of the string for debugging) Note: You can also do the same with a single regex expression using a callback function directly on replace: var str = '"bar foo foo 1"'; var callback = function(match) { return '&ret;' } str = str.replace(/\\(""|"\')){2}(.*"|"\')\\1/g, '$1&ret;'); console.log(str); 1. Field of the Invention The present invention relates to an image processing technique having been specifically developed for processing displayed images in video cameras and the like. 2. Description of the Related Art As is well known, image pickup devices have been developed to have higher picture elements and improved image quality, and semiconductor memories have been developed to have larger capacity. The official mod version of Elden Ring is here with many more features and is actually worth exploring. I am installing the official version right now, it is awesome! A couple of things you should be wary of is the patch notes for this version are to date out of date but it is being resolved. Also, there is some downtime on Newbazzard when loading screens are being designed, (No loading screen displayed yet) but for now it is nothing to worry about. When I have
