This is the game changer. This is the first and the only thing you need to finish it. The past 1000 posts were an explanation of what happened so far and a explanation of the LiLy Universe. The Player Character, LiLy the Red Dragon: LiLy is a red dragon who was born in the blackness of the grave by accident. She's never been happier than when she's suffering from the darkness of her past. LiLy is not evil; rather she is a villain who has grown a grudge against the people she's called friends. All she wants is to fall in love, to have a happy life, and to experience the world. However, for some reason, she is in a completely black and dark hellish world. She can't remember a time when she was not a dragon, or when she was born. She has the instincts of a human being, however she's never known love nor happiness. She's only know sadness, hatred, and darkness. She's been cursed by the author of the broken heart and she's been walking around in darkness for quite a while now. Game Mechanics and Characters

LiLy's Revenge: Broken is a story driven game and a RPG/Adventure/Fantasy RPG game. The game has 2 playable characters, LiLy the Red Dragon, and Rapha the Green Knight. Rapha is actually the true hero of the story. He's the one who wanted to save LiLy from the darkness of the world that she was trapped in, by using his magic sword, The Sword of Reunion. The thing is, he was never human. He's Rapha the Green Knight. As Rapha fights and defeats his way through the story, his world is also fractured. He was created by the author of the broken heart, he was kidnapped, and turned into a black knight (with glowing red eyes) to be thrown into this hell. The author has kept Rapha's true nature a secret in order to increase the drama. Also, as he learns more about the world he is in, he must face his own demons and fall in love. Over 200 characters of the LiLy Universe: The Game Has a dark story with lots of plot twists and turns, however, if you die, the game is over. You must complete each level to the very end and the second you fail you will lose all the work done so far. Game Features:-Story driven game

What's new in Granado Espada Ailis Region OST Collection:

! Tebo Tebo September 11th, 2008, 02:55 PM Hi, So I recently downgraded some vehicles to R4, which gave me +5% for pretty much the entire mp...but without exceeding the limits. And I was thinking, what are the other vehicles which let you boost your speed by 5% but not put you over the road limit? I tried doing tourney demoing and even some other things. I never put my vehicle over 170mph so far, plus my boost isn't big like before and I've noticed that yellow gradient limit is being avoided. Using my eyes it appears that there is a dimension that has to be broken to surpass the road limit, what is it?

AstroBoy AstroBoy October 6th, 2008, 11:25 AM Hey Tebo, you may be wondering if your boost is this big. Just think of when you are driving back home during a march. The first thing you notice is the tach hits 5000rpm. You start to pull away from the pack, and then the tach hits 6000rpm. Now you are starting to struggle, and you notice another couple of trucks start to pull away from you and overtake you. Now you have been running at peak burnout all day, but your tach shows less than 4000rpm. Dang, I am running out of revs aren't I? Now this is how your boost behaves. Your engine starts to shut down in small revolutions, as seen in your tach. Think of the cars on TQ1 (yeah I know the rules don't say what you can do, but all the cars behave the same), if you look up or down you notice a car ahead of you starts to pull away from the pack. This is a concurrence of V setting, TQ setting, and ACC. If they are set to transmit, and you set your v to transmit, the car will slow down, and normally this goes to a standstill. This can allow for a one step ahead maneuver, but also limits you to one step ahead. There is a way to bypass this however. Until your engine starts to shut down, the road speed is being read as your V setting, and the car will continue to go. If you set your v to advance on V setting, then the engine will continue to rev at it's peak and you will achieve 5000+ mph! You can also use Mp4
