with the star wars game star wars: knights of the old republic, the only other star wars game to bear the name of the franchise's first film, it's the only game in the star wars franchise to feature knights as its main character class. for the first time, players not only have access to the jedi order, the sith order and the scoundrels but also to knights as a class. the knights are a new class, with four different archetypes which are derived from the four different orders of the jedi: jedi consular, jedi sentinel, jedi guardian and jedi assassin.

tiberium wars is a real-time strategy game where the player assumes the role of the leader of the global defense initiative (gdi) or the brotherhood of nod (nod) in a conflict between the two opposing factions. it was released on the macintosh and windows platforms, and later ported to other platforms. the game was released in two parts: a single-player campaign, and a multiplayer game; the single-player campaign was bundled with the windows version, while the multiplayer version was not. the game is set in the year 2007. the game's setting is modern-day north america, and revolves around the global defense initiative (gdi), an organization formed by the united states, russia, china, great britain, and france to combat the brotherhood of nod (nod), an international terrorist organization. the story begins with the nod successfully planting a bomb in a public transportation system in the heart of washington, d.c. and detonating it. while the first game in the series, command & conquer: tiberian sun, was set in a science fiction post-apocalyptic world, the second game, command & conquer: generals, was set in an alternate reality where the cold war never ended, and the united states and the soviet union were still at war. this third game in the series is set in a world where the cold war never ended. in the year 2007, the american and russian governments fight each other to control the remains of a destroyed soviet nuclear warhead in the rocky mountains. russian president vladimir chernenko is killed by a gdi strike team, and the gdi eventually unites the world's governments to form the united nations.

the most noteworthy change in tiberium essence is the new faction, the forgotten. gdi had been engaged in three campaigns by this point, and while the player had access to a large number of units, some of them were very infrequently used. the forgotten, however, are a new faction, and they play out the gdi part of the story. they're also very good at using cover and moving through it, something no other faction is particularly known for. in their own campaign, they're also aided by the introduction of a new ai commander, called the 'mastermind', which can be picked out and highlighted by looking at the minimap. they also have a number of vehicles that are unique to this faction. the new units are certainly welcome additions, and they effectively fill out the roster of gdi units for a much more interesting game. the mod also features a number of tweaks to the regular campaign, and these are typically minor changes. a big one is that each campaign now has a different tone, with the three campaigns of gdi being very different, the brotherhood of nod being very different, and the forgotten being both different from both. they're also each more difficult, having fewer resources available to them and a greater number of enemies. this makes the campaign more challenging, which is an improvement over the original game, where the campaigns tended to be too easy. the two new campaigns are the brotherhood of nod and the forgotten, which both have their own map packs. the original tiberium essence map pack is now called, 'new terrain' and contains new bases, new units, new buildings and even new roads. it's available to download now. 5ec8ef588b
