Loved the husband with the 1960’s fashion, although I did not know what to do with the 1957 treadle sewing machine. And did you see how the vintage pennant just fits?? The baby blue pillows were the perfect accent for this shirt. It was about $10, including the pennant, and it was a purchase that comes with great memories. He says the usual is to cross over frontage road and take the elevated Metro-North train that goes right onto the Williamsburg Bridge. He says that when the MTA runs a special train, they stop the service at the frontage road and then transfer passengers to the regular BMT local. So I was on a special cab ride today, from Brooklyn. It had us taking local service to Penn Station and then switching to the special train. It was a very smooth operation, and I was very pleased. The present invention relates to a heat-transfer printer, and more particularly to a heat-transfer printer utilizing a heat-sensitive ink sheet and having a pressure roller. Recently, it has been frequently studied and developed to provide various printers, other than thermal transfer printers, as an output device for use in an information-oriented society. In particular, a system of a heat-transfer printer utilizing heat-sensitive ink sheet is easy to satisfy the following conditions: "The printer can be mounted inexpensively on the small terminal equipment so that it will not increase the cost of the terminal equipment." A prior art heat-transfer printer has a construction that a heat-sensitive ink sheet is heated by a transfer heating section of a heat-sensing head mounted on a carriage so that a portion of the ink on the ink sheet corresponding to a picture element on an object, to be printed, is transferred to the object and color printing is effected. As it is necessary that the heat-sensitive ink sheet be kept in contact with the heating section of the heat-sensing head during the course of printing, the head is ordinarily mounted on the carriage with the ink sheet extending from the carriage in the direction of conveying the ink sheet. In order that the ink sheet will not be curled and offset during the course of printing, the prior art heat-transfer printer has been constructed to feed the ink sheet by a conveyor cylinder which is supported by a friction roller in a manner interposed between the conveyor cylinder and the ink sheet. On the other hand, in the heat-transfer printer utilizing such kind of heat-sensitive ink sheet, a printing operation other than the color printing is not effected and the ink on the ink sheet corresponding to black is usually simply not heated so that another use of the ink sheet is likely to cause a portion thereof to bleed to white. For this reason, the prior art heat-transfer printer has been
