PWNED Tool Lets You Load Unsigned Firmware Onto iPhone !!HOT!!

the above process also wipes the factory backup, so if you have made one, you should store it somewhere safe. the process mentioned above would also require you to plug into itunes and update the firmware. what i will be adding for the people that are still concerned about this, i may have a solution to the problem in the future. there is a jailbreak for iphone 4s that is untethered which has a bypass to secure boot. though, this requires a downgrade to ios 5.1, and i don't know if the jailbreak will work for a user updated to ios 5.2/5.3 (though, probably it will). otherwise, i want to share the tool i used to downgrade the device to a previous ios version. if you look at the part of the pastebin i posted in this article, you can see that i used the odysseus tool to install the current system and go back in history to install a previous version. now, i'm going to explain how i did that (and how you could do it as well) in case you need to roll back in the future. the solution worked by exploiting a bug in ios version 5.1.1 where you can use the debug application to install an unsigned code (called a dylib). also, since it's a dylib, it won't get signed by apple, and thus won't be detected in a jailbroken device. you can find more info about this bug here: <http://www.theiphonewiki.com/?lessons+learned+public+symbols>. odysseus ios_5.1.1/5.1-12/5.0-50 --> ios_5.0/5.0.50-20 how to downgrade to ios 5.0 using the odysseus tool odysseus ios_5.50-20 pwned tool lets you load unsigned firmware onto iphone what i will be adding for the people that are still concerned about this, i may have a solution to the problem in the future. there is a jailbreak for iphone 4s that is untethered which has a bypass to secure boot. though, this requires a downgrade to ios 5.1, and i don't know if the jailbreak will work for a user updated to ios 5.2/5.3 (though, probably it will).

PWNED Tool Lets You Load Unsigned Firmware Onto iPhone creating shsh blobs is part and parcel of jailbreaking. so, before we begin, head over to the post for cydia and check if your already jailbroken iphone is fully unlocked using cydia and apt packages for jailbreak (recommended to jailbreak in recovery mode instead of dfu mode, so that you dont brick your device.) currently you have to buy mac os x for your jailbroken iphone/ipad as the cydia developer hadnt yet released an os x version of the futurerestore gui application for windows, but you dont need to buy anything as there is an alternative to it. the alternative is to use a linux livecd. if you are on linux and plan to install ifile (a file manager) then you can easily extract the.ipa files from the.dmg (mac os x) archive. you can use this.ipa for your windows system and any android phone as well as your jailbroken idevice, and use ifile and the iphone/ipad iso app to mount the.ipa and install ios on your idevice. as a word of caution, make sure that you use the latest version of ifile and the latest version of iphone iso app. you have to use the latest version of ifile if you want to use this method. click on dfu mode of boot that has the lowest bootloader count. for example, iphone 5s is the last iphone released that does not require the unlocking of bootloader so the lowest bootloader count is 1. the higher the count, the higher is the level of lockdown and security provided by apple for each bootloader. if you dont know how to unlock your bootloader then you need to read the post about the method. gotta say ive been a bit surprised by the numbers on the downloads and comments on the jailbreak - about 7000 jailbreakers worldwide and more than 10,000 downloads. but still, we dont need to sell iphones to be successful. anyways, enough chatter. where is everyone?, jailbreak is in progress. update soon if youre still on 2.0, if not, do not update. you are taking a huge risk by updating to any open source jailbreak. we have a team of security experts right here. sooner or later we will find it. while pwnage tool 2.0 isnt out just yet, its good to know that theres still work to be done. theres still work to be done with the baseband, which we believe shouldnt be the responsibility of the jailbreak community to perform, instead we plan to eventually automate it. we want to remove all work from the jailbreak community.
