You can use Photoshop for some things such as work that requires the manipulation of images as well as fine-tuning your images. If you work in graphic design and are creating prints, then you may prefer to use Photoshop for that instead. If you are creating images for the Web, then you may use Photoshop as a web design tool and a photo editing tool. Discovering Photoshop's Basics You find Photoshop's basic work processes through the tools in the Photoshop toolbox and the menu system. You can perform many functions on your images using Photoshop's tools and menus. This gives you the power to create images from scratch as well as enhance your existing images. The basic tools are the same whether you're working in a web image or a print file, although some of the toolbars are more visible in a web image. Toolbars and menus can be confusing, especially if you're new to Photoshop. The menus are designed to make life easy for you as you work with images, but some menus seem confusing when you first run into them. With a little practice, you can quickly find your way around. However, you can customize the toolbars and menus to fit your image editing needs. Table 1-1 lists the basic menus and controls. A matter of life and death for the brave souls in our midst – both employees and clients. The problem is, most of us are not familiar with the facility. Maybe it's a duty that we do as employees on a regular basis, or maybe it's a responsibility that we always had to do as a client. Maybe we had a bad experience there. Or maybe we never had a bad experience. Whatever the case may be – we should be aware and be prepared. Of course, not all food/alcohol liability claims are as serious as others. Some are based on mistakes, some are based on food, and some are based on drinks. But what all should we be prepared for? We've assembled a list here at the firm to help you out. 1. Disease Sometimes these occur based on the environment where you work or get hired. The room(s) or environment may be contaminated. That's why you'll want to be aware of potential risks, what you need to do to protect yourself, and your environment. 2. Injury Our day to day activities can lead to injury. Perhaps your car was in an accident and you need to go to the hospital, or maybe it's your arm that just got a bit hit on at work. Awareness is everything. 3. Death Death has always been a possibility in this life, and it may be a possibility in yours as well. There are all kinds of people who can die from food-borne illness and then there are people who can die as a result of alcohol poisoning. You may not want to have your family involved in your death, but you would want to make sure that you have a will. Once you have a will in place, you need to make sure that you have a loved one, make an appointment with your attorney, and make sure that you name who will serve as your executor. 4. Theft Many times, food/alcohol items are stolen. From the food, to the drink, to even the very property that you are bringing to the facility. Theft leads to loss, which means that the insurance company will not have to cover the loss. If this is the case, then you need to make sure that you leave a proper amount of documentation to the insurance company in the form of photo identification and/or receipts. 5. Consequences of Customer Complaints The time

Q: "merge" a SQL Server database using SQL Server Management Studio I need to merge 2 SQL Server databases, and the merge script is available here: I understand the option 'Merge' in Management Studio. What is the option for merging databases on server? My SQL SERVER database is on a different file than SQL SERVER Management Studio is located on. I need to do it like on the link above. Is there a way to do it using a command line like a merge.exe? If there is no way to execute the scripts in SQL SERVER Management Studio, is there a way to execute them using another way? Thanks. A: To do a merge you need to do the following: Open SQL Server management studio Connect to the instance On the menu bar select Tools > Import/Export Click the appropriate button for your case (from the picture example) Provide the target database, the source database and a name for the merge A: The tutorial you've already linked to shows how to do this. It is the correct way to do this, and there's nothing additional to do on the server end. fileFormatVersion: 2 guid: 8f7560a01ed0f8422a8c53949b8d0e72 timeCreated: 1486837191 licenseType: Free TextureImporter: fileIDToRecycleName: {} serializedVersion: 4 mipmaps: mipMapMode: 0 enableMipMap: 0 sRGBTexture: 1 linearTexture: 0 fadeOut: 0 borderMipMap: 0 mipMapFadeDistanceStart: 1 mipMapFadeDistanceEnd: 3 bumpmap: convertToNormalMap: 0 externalNormalMap: 0 heightScale: 0.25 normalMapFilter: 0 isReadable: 0 grayScaleToAlpha: 0 generateCubemap: 6
