.Q: How to get the actual file size of an Android File using Java code I am not able to get the file size of an Android file. Here is my code String p = Environment.getExternalStorageDirectory().getAbsolutePath(); File f = new File(p); long n = f.length(); System.out.println("" + n); But it gives an output as -1. Am I doing something wrong here. A: In the API Javadoc for android.os.File, you'll see that length() only returns the number of bytes in the file. If you want to know the disk space used by your file, you can use the methods: getLongAttribute(String, String) getLongAttributes(File) E.g.: long diskSpaceUsed = file.getLongAttribute("android.content.res.values", "dex_length"); long totalSize = file.getLongAttribute("android.content.res.values", "dex_offset"); long spaceUsed = totalSize - diskSpaceUsed; long spaceAvail = diskSpaceUsed; Documentation: java.lang.String) A: If you wish to get the filesize in bytes, e.g. for sqlite file storage, it is very simple: public static long getFileSize(Context context, File file){ FileInputStream fis = null; try{ fis = context.openFileInput(file.getName()); } catch (FileNotFoundException e){ Log.w(TAG,"No such file: " + file.getName()); } long s = 0; try{ 1cb139a0ed
