Sam Brownback (R) on Thursday signed into law a measure, known as the so-called "Religious Freedom Bill," that he had said would protect Kansans from having to provide services such as abortions or counseling to gay people. The governor said in a statement that the bill would not change the state's civil rights laws, which already protect LGBT people from discrimination. "It merely prevents the government from compelling Americans to participate in providing abortions or counseling services, among other things," he said. But gay rights activists have denounced the measure, saying it will allow discrimination against gay people, and that it's the latest in a series of social-conservative pushes by states to pass laws that critics xvideos777.com Rrallifecam match free End of preview Friends, Indians and Indians have a love for cricket, itâ€™s an instinct in some Indians. Some Indians can run up a decent score on a regular basis just because itâ€™s the habit of cricket fans for India to play well on the world stage. What this talent did not know was, for some time, an Indian was a serious contender to do a thing in the game which no one has ever done to date. In these days, Indiaâ€™s oldest game has evolved into a sport played by the best players in the world, like Pakistanâ€™s Wasim Akram and Wasim Jaffer, Englandâ€™s Ian Botham, Australiaâ€™s Dennis Lillee and yes, the mother of all Indian cricket, Sachin Tendulkar. India was ready for this challenge and had played cricket for at least 10,000 years. We started very well in ICC World Cup in 2003 as the surprise of the tournament, hammered England by an innings and 88 runs, ended up with an average of 336 runs from six games. By the end of the tournament, Tendulkarâ€™s arrival to Indian cricket was well cemented, with a heroâ€™s welcome at the airport and a multimillion-dollar deal with Kings XI Punjab. We were on our way to become one of the strongest teams in ICC cricket. How far do we go? We are nowhere. Cricket, as an Indian sport is nothing to laugh at. It is so rich in history that one cannot even set up a website to show how rich it is. It is so intricate that it has to be learned like some ancient weapon. We have cricket in our DNA but we have got no cricket culture. We even got no cricket museums, where you could see where different styles of playing cricket originated. You cannot just bring out a cricketing website without cricketing ethics. When we were youngsters, we played chota bhai bhai rather than running or jumping, and we never thought about the importance of cricketing culture. We brought our cricket to all countries, but we never gave our cricket to the children. The cricket we played was different at different schools. In one school in Pune, we used to play cricket like we are playing football and if the field is not flat enough, thatâ€™s the cricket 3e33713323
